

Election '79 concludes Tuesday

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County voters will go to the polls Tuesday to express their decisions as to who will run both local and statewide governments for the next four years. Perhaps the most controversial and closest local race in this election is the battle for the Hancock County superintendent of education post. In the Democratic primary election, North Bay Elementary School Principal Billy Sills edged incumbent Terry Randolph by a mere 15 votes.

Complaints were filed in which Randolph claimed some 41 votes in the West Shoreline Park ballot box were cast illegally by Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District residents.

The Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee and a special Circuit

Court tribunal rejected the present superintendent's claims and declared Sills the winner of the election.

Now Sills faces Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins, running on the independent ticket.

Haskins also hit a snag as he qualified for candidacy when Sills contended the HNC principal had not met residency requirements for becoming a candidate.

The Hancock County Election Commission, however, ruled that Haskins will have met the two-year requirement at the time of the election.

In other local races, incumbent State Senator Martin T. Smith seeks re-election in the 47th District as he faces Julian B. Wright, the Republican contender in that race.

District 122 State Representative J.P. Compretta faces Republican Karl Goss in the election this Tuesday, the incumbent Compretta seeking his second term of office as representative.

Hancock County Chief Sheriff's Deputy Ronald A. (Ronnie) Peterson, the Democratic nominee for sheriff, faces Republican contender McCortick Wheeler a race for that office.

Peterson defeated Joseph Dobson, Emile Piazza, Fairley Necaise, and James C. Ladner for the Democratic nomination.

Incumbent District One Supervisor Burt Courge, having won the nomination from Democratic voters, faces Independent Robert B. Peterson Jr. in a battle for that position Tuesday.

CZM funds won't apply to Hancock

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County is not among Mississippi coastal areas slated to share some $25 million in federal funds which may be withheld if a pending Coastal Zone Management plan is not approved.

Victor Frankiewicz of Bay St. Louis, consultant for the State Bureau of Marine Resources, met with Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Director Wilson Webre Friday morning to discuss the CZM bill.

"Hancock County will not receive any of the $25 million in grants and loans approved by the state under the CZM program now pending," Frankiewicz said Friday afternoon.

He added, "It hinders us because Hancock County can't see an immediate gain but they will gain in the long run."

Concerning his meeting with Webre, Frankiewicz said, "The issue of exempting present industries and their future expansion plans was discussed."

"We talked about future use of disposal sites for actual industrial development and ways to make these spoil areas a part of a long-range plan of industrial development which would be acceptable to the federal government," Frankiewicz explained.

The commission informally requested that the entire Port Bienville industrial area be exempt from CZM but Frankiewicz said, "We can't exempt industrial parks but we think the selective exemptions will satisfy their concerns."

Murder suspect returns

A 40-year-old Carrier resident and former New Jersey convict who is under indictment in Harrison County for the July slaying of young honey-mooners whose bodies were found north of Pass Christian, waived extradition proceedings in Orlando, Fla.

Kenneth W. Wheat, who has been confined in the Orange County, Fla., jail since his Oct. 19 arrest on shoplifting charges, has been returned to Harrison County by Sheriff Howard L. Hobbs and Chief Deputy Crais Monroe, Jr.

Wheat is charged in the shooting deaths one day after they were married in Kentucky of Joseph Meyer, 24, and his bride, Teresa Meyer, 21.

LIONS AND TIGERS AND BEARS, OH MY! Filmy cages hastily constructed from debris of an 18-wheel tractor-trailer truck contain two of five lions which escaped when the truck overturned on the ramp to I-10 at Hwy. 49 in North Gulfport Saturday. Highway Patrol and Harrison County Sheriff's Department officials conducted air and ground searches for the five lions and a tiger. Early reports indicated bears from the Carson and Barnes Circus truck may have also been on the loose. Some three hours following their escape, all six wild animals were accounted for and either caged or tranquilized, the Highway Patrol reported. The felines were being transported to North Biloxi where they were to appear in a circus Saturday afternoon. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Lions, tiger loose in N. Gulfport

By RICH ADAMS

Five lions and a tiger ran free in North Gulfport for some three hours Saturday after an 18-wheel tractor-trailer carrying the wild circus animals overturned on the entrance to I-10 at Hwy. 49.

The mishap occurred at 7:20 a.m., and by 10:30 a.m. all were accounted for and had been captured or tranquilized, according to Highway Patrol Inspector George Saxon.

Saxon, who piloted the MHP Eighth District helicopter during the roundup operation, said the truck, part of a Carson and Barnes Circus caravan heading to North Biloxi for a performance, failed to negotiate a curve on the access road to I-10 and overturned, spilling the lions and tigers onto a grassy area of the interchange.

The lions which were not tranquilized were being kept in makeshift cages constructed from materials from the damaged truck.

The lions watched curious spectators with seeming disinterest, but would stand up and become excited if a spectator moved too close to the cage.

Saxon said one of the animals was being contained in an abandoned barn some two miles west of the mishap site.

Circus employees stood near the cages with sticks as precautionary measures should one of the large cats become enraged and escape from the cages.

BaySide youth survives 14,000-volt experience

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bayside Park resident Donald Graham, 13, narrowly escaped death Thursday morning when he was shocked by a 14,000 volt power line, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr.

Graham was rushed to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic where he remained in the intensive care unit until Friday morning.

Harry Gilmore, HGH administrator, reported the youth, "was out of intensive care and doing very good and in good spirits" Friday morning.

"Graham was playing with an old Citizen Band antenna a little over 24 feet long and it had a hook on the end of it. The hook caught on the power line and the youth apparently tried to get it off and it touched a lower line. "The pole separated and that probably saved his life. Also, he was lucky to have on tennis shoes," commented Sheriff Ladner.

The sheriff's office received a call on the accident at 10:55 a.m. Thursday.

Waveland Fire Chief Kenny Fayard, East Hancock Volunteer Fire Chief Jay Marsh and State Fire Marshall Norman Curet were only a block away from the scene and found a neighbor and Graham's mother with him.

Graham who suffered burns of the hands and feet, was discovered by his mother who summoned help, according to authorities.

A few minutes after Mobile Medic left for HGH, William Graham, Sr., father of the injured youth, arrived home and was driven to Hancock General Hospital by Deputy Delbert Seay.

Preliminary elevation of Hancock South Central by Architect John Mykolyk

Board gives go-ahead on South Central High

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County School Board Saturday morning viewed plans and schematics for a proposed South Hancock Central High School, a "no frills" facility which Superintendent Terry Randolph is attempting to build with surplus funds.

Architect John Mykolyk addressed the board and displayed the plans for the school, explaining that foundation work is still being conducted at the site on U.S. 90 south of I-10.

Randolph said he is glad to see the school "becoming a reality."

"Where the bond issue was to include a Hancock North Central Elementary School, now all we are getting is a south end school," Randolph said in reference to a $3.7 million bond issue which was defeated at the polls three times this year.

"With the expenditure of the surplus funds to construct the school, no new construction will occur at Hancock North Central. A new air-conditioned elementary school and new junior and senior high school will not be built at Hancock North Central because of the defeat of the bond issue three times," he added.

"We had asked for a $3.7 million bond issue, but with existing surplus funds, that figure would have been at $4.4 million," the superintendent explained.

Mykolyk was given the go-ahead to proceed with plans and complete ground-preparations for construction.

Randolph also presented the board with a letter from L.O. Crosby III of Melrose, California, who is swapping the 40 acres on which the school will be built for 16th Section lands owned by the system.

In his letter, Crosby asks for "a list of (16th Section) land parcels the school district is willing to exchange..."

In other business the board approved a change in prices for the system's milk program.

The board approved a five cent hike in the price at Hancock North Central and a five cent decrease at Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Elementary Schools, equalizing the milk prices at 10 cents each.

Board Member Johnny Banks stipulated that the changes will be effective when the program is at all school, instead of just at Hancock North Central as it is presently.

Banks also made a motion to institute the milk program at all schools at the earliest possible time, which was also approved.

The board then retreated into executive session to discuss personnel salaries.

I WONDER....

My opponent has voiced his concern for the quality of education in Hancock County. I do not doubt his sincerity, but where was he during the long, hot campaign of this past summer when four worthy opponents and myself put our beliefs before you the voters. Once again, thanks to your wonderful help, I was able to voice my beliefs in the second primary, but my opponent was nowhere to be seen. At the last moment, my opponent suddenly became "concerned" about education in our county and decided to run.

That is his privilege under our system of government; but I wonder will he approach the office of county superintendent in the same manner as he approached this election-tentative, uncertain, making last minute decisions, letting others do the work? I wonder...

Throughout my campaign I have made my position clear. I have told you that I agree with me or not you know where I stand. You know that I answer to no one man or power group; I answer only to you the voters. Can my opponent say this? I wonder...

It is important to vote!

The importance of each of us voting Tuesday could not be more emphasized than in the returns of the second primary elections.

Votes are still being counted in several counties, and returns are being challenged.

In our neighboring state of Louisiana, there is a close vote count for a run-off position for governor.

Tuesday will be the general election for the selection of the leaders on a State and county level for four years. The folks we elect will be spending our money for the next four years.

Democratic and Republican nominees for the primary elections will be pitted against each other and independent candidates.

Many votes were thrown out during the second primary because of irregularities, such as using a pencil, red or green ink, etc.

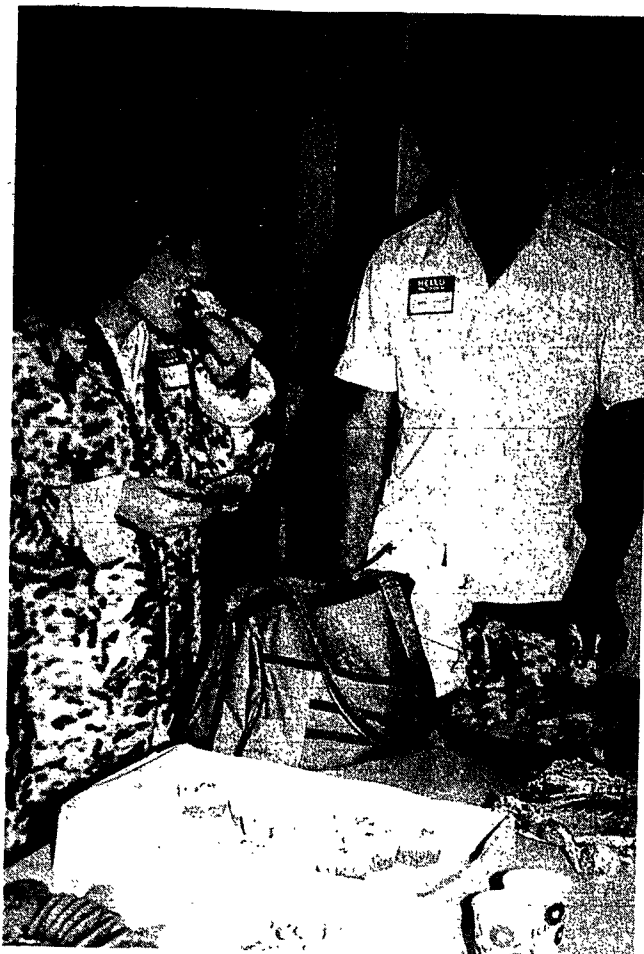

As an aide to voters, we are publishing on this page, courtesy of Concerned Citizens, some do's and don'ts at the polls.

It is important to vote, and it is also necessary to make your vote count.

See you at the polls!

A total of 75 youth of the community collected a record $581 in the Bay-Waveland area. Our Lady of the Gulf's CYO was host for the collection this year. Because of rain, several areas may have been missed and anyone wanting to make a donation can send a check or money order to UNICEF, c/o Ellis Cuevas, P.O. Box 230, Bay St. Louis, Miss., 39520. ## Health and Safety Tip

PREVENT FOOD POISONING

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

Don't let Salmonella spoil your holiday dinner. Salmonella, bacteria frequently found in raw poultry, eggs, meat, and dairy products, can cause food poisoning if ingested.

MEMORIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO YOUR HEART ASSOCIATION HELP SUPPORT HEART DISEASE RESEARCH

The family of the deceased receives a prompt acknowledgment of your memorial gift. You receive a receipt for your tax-deductible contribution.

In the human gastrointestinal tract, salmonella produces irritation which can result in abdominal cramps and pain, diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, and fever.

Symptoms range from only mild discomfort to life-endangering general infections.

Although salmonella contamination can take place during food production, handling, or storage in manufacturing plants, it usually stems from improper handling of food during preparation in the home. You can lessen the threat of infections from food poisoning by following some simple rules.

- Wash raw food carefully and thoroughly before preparation.
- Wash hands and utensils thoroughly after handling raw foods to lessen the possibility of contamination of cooked or ready to eat foods.
- Follow directions for storing, preparing, or serving quick-frozen foods. Storage at proper temperatures prevents salmonella growth and thorough cooking will kill it.

- Do not thaw frozen raw poultry at room temperature. Thaw in the refrigerator or use cool running water.
- Do not stuff turkeys or chickens the night before cooking, as salmonella will multiply quickly under these conditions. Stuff just prior to roasting. Never store stuffing in the leftover turkey or cook the turkey partially in one place and finish cooking it later.

- Refrigerate leftovers promptly and heat thoroughly before re-serving. (Gravies should be reheated to "rolling boil.")
- Refrigerate all dairy products, including mixtures made from dry base.

- Make sure perishable foods are kept cold until eaten. Foods which tend to spoil easily without refrigeration should not be exposed to room temperatures for more than one-half hour before eating.
- Avoid tasting raw food preparations containing eggs or pastry mixes. Never taste a suspected product to see if it is safe to eat; this is a potentially fatal act. Cracked eggs are often contaminated and should be discarded.

- Don't eat hamburger meat rare.
- Do not leave meat at room temperature for more than two hours after cooking; refrigerate meat as soon as possible always.

- Do not leave tuna, chicken or other salad-type sandwiches - including brown-bagged lunches - at room temperature for more than two hours.

New Jersey plan may be solution to US-90 speed problem

Nov. 1, 1979

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms.

Dear Sir:

Your desire to save lives and reduce accidents on US-90 by controlling speeds is admirable. But - has anybody tried to estimate the cost in manpower, vehicles and gasoline to patrol that road 24-hours a day, seven days a week to enforce the 40 mph speed you want to install.

Because if it is not enforced all day every day for both local and foreign cars, the AAA will scream "Speed Trap" if you stop only one of their members.

I agree excess speed on that road has caused deaths and destruction no end. So I offer an alternate plan:

Obtain Traffic Lights. Regular ones not demand lights. Enough for each cross street and semi-cross street on US-90 from Beach Boulevard and the bridge, to the Waveland western city limit.

For example, you have one at Beach Boulevard, put one at Second Street, Seminary Road, the back end of the Bay View apartment road and Dunbar, etc. and continue on down the road. Get computer help from NSTL or the Highway Department, and accurately synchronize those lights to any speed between 45 and 55 mph.

You will have one speed going east and another going west. I do not know why, but it will work out that way.

Install signs stating the speed of the synchronization starting at the Hancock County line on the Bridge, and under each light.

Estimate all left turns on Highway 90. Right turn on Red will be permitted. The cross streets will be able to make either left or right turns.

For me to turn off US-90 will mean that I do a right at the end of the bridge, and use the service road and cross straight at Second Street.

This will control speed because even a 16 Wheeler will not roar through red light after red light. And the treatment will be equal to all, local and foreign.

Please do not think this my idea or something new out of Star Wars, I saw this idea on old Highway 11 in New Jersey in '47 or '48, and the speed then was either 29 or 32 mph, and since I was going through, I thought what a good solution to a problem.

Yours very truly,

Republicans seek AG opinion on courthouse campaign practices

October 19, 1979

Honorable A.F. Summer
Attorney General
Jackson

Dear General Summer:

I am writing to you today concerning a request for your legal opinion sent to you by the chairman of the Harrison County Board of Election Commissioners.

The opinion request addresses the question of whether or not the county registrar (circuit clerk) is required to execute the Certificate of Attesting Witness which accompanies an absentee ballot voted in the registrar's office. It is my understanding that you have not yet responded to this request.

We feel there is an urgent need for this opinion. Here in Harrison County, the incumbent circuit clerk, Webb Lee, has bumper stickers, and sample ballots prominently displayed all over the circuit clerk's office promoting his reelection bid. Furthermore, Mr. Lee and his employees actively campaigning for his reelection there in the courthouse.

As you are aware, most voters wishing to vote absentee must cast the ballot in the circuit clerk's office. For all intents and purposes, the circuit clerk's office is the polling place for absentee voters.

Does it not logically follow that these voters should be afforded the same rights not to be solicited or intimidated at the polling place as is afforded all other voters by Section 23-5-109 Mississippi Code Annotated (1972)?

What basis is there for denying this right to this group of voters when all others are guaranteed that right?

But more importantly, our opinion is that the circuit clerk is strictly prohibited from campaigning with absentee voters by virtue of the fact that he must serve as the attesting witness for all absentee ballots cast in his office (Section 23-9-409 Mississippi Code Annotated, 1972.)

As the attesting witness, the circuit clerk must certify that he has not advised the voter or solicited his vote for any candidate. How can our incumbent circuit clerk, Webb Lee, sign such a statement when his office is blanketed with campaign literature?

In our opinion, this campaigning in the office of the circuit clerk while voters are casting absentee ballots is clearly illegal. It is illegal because it makes it impossible for Mr. Lee to honestly sign the attesting witness certificate stating that the voter was not advised or solicited.

Even if the law does not specifically address the issue of circuit clerks campaigning on their own behalf in the courthouse, is not the intention of the law in this regard very clear?

Is it fair and just that no candidate anywhere can campaign within thirty feet of a polling place except for an incumbent circuit clerk?

Is it fair and just law that prohibits anyone except an incumbent circuit clerk from advising an absentee voter as to how to cast his ballot?

It is the unanimous opinion of our county executive committee that this practice is not only unfair and unjust but also unlawful.

The need for your opinion is urgent since absentee balloting will begin at the courthouse on October 22. We need your help if we are to prevent this gross injustice and this blatant deprivation of voters' rights.

Please respond to this request as soon as you possibly can.

Sincerely,
Paul Easton

Chairman
Harrison County Republican
Executive Committee

Dear Sir:

I read with great interest the Sea Coast Echo's coverage of my presentation to the Hancock County School Board concerning the progress our mathematics department made over the past three years. My thanks to Mr. Wayne Ducomb for an accurate account in his article.

Although not directly stated in the article, please understand that our growth and achievements is due to the professionalism, dedication, and perseverance of all our teachers from the elementary grades to senior high. Since each department is accountable for its actions, I believe you will see impressive evidence of the educational progress Hancock North Central is making.

BOOK REVIEW

TIM GALLWEY'S
NATIONAL BESTSELLERS
'INNER SKIING'
AND
'THE INNER GAME
OF TENNIS'
TO BE PUBLISHED
BY BANTAM
ON NOVEMBER 1

"Inner Skiing" is to other books what powder is to slush."

Olympic Skier
Suzy Chafee

"Those who like to be beguiled by visions of their own self-mastery and a perfect backhand should certainly read Gallwey."

Washington Post

Tim Gallwey first introduced the "Inner Game" concept to millions of Americans through his phenomenally successful bestseller, "The Inner Game of Tennis," and his equally popular PBS television series, "Inner Tennis."

He then applied the "Inner Game" principles to skiing, and along with co-author Bob Krieger, created another national bestseller, "Inner Skiing."

Today, Bantam will publish both books for the first time in paperback.

A 300,000 copy bestseller in its Random House edition, "The Inner Game of Tennis," was a Book of the Month Club, Playboy Book Club, and Tennis Book Club selection. "Tennis News" praised it as "a how-to sports book with depth and soul. The book's thrust carries far beyond tennis," and Jack Barnaby, former president of the U.S. Professional Tennis Association called Gallwey "the most interesting writer on tennis to appear in many years."

"Inner Skiing," which contains tips for experienced skiers as well as encouraging beginners, has sold over 80,000 copies in hardcover. Also a Book of the Month Club and Playboy Book Club selection, "Inner Skiing" was excerpted in "Psychology Today," "New Woman," "New Age," "The Chicago Tribune," and "Creative Living."

"After reading the book I experienced a spellbinding breakthrough in my freestyle skiing, as well as being better able to handle fear and concentration," continued Suzy Chafee, "Tim Gallwey and Bob Krieger have created beautiful clear poetry of what skiing is really all about."

George Leonard, author of "The Ultimate Athlete" felt that "Even non-skiers can profit by reading this marvelous book. As for skiing, it will never be the same."

"The remarkable success of these books," said "Psychology Today," "is attributable largely to Gallwey's skill in communicating how to change mental attitudes that inhibit our potential...The 'Inner Game' is one we should all aim to win."

The "Inner Game" concept—quieting the conscious mind, trust in one's body, relaxed concentration—provides perspective on coping with the pressures that impede our enjoyment and performance in athletics and the other arenas of life.

Grounded in yoga, meditation, and humanistic psychology, the "Inner Game" approach is designed to help you consistently achieve the state of mind in which you can perform best and perceive most clearly.

When Village Voice "Scenes" columnist Howard Smith ran a contest requesting readers to submit lists of lies for "The Forked Tongue Hall of Fame," he was deluged with falsities and fabrications from Presidential lies like "I am not a crook" to landlord lies like "Don't worry about what is in the lease; we'll always let you sublet," and Howard Cosell: "Standing next to me is an athlete who's the greatest living legend of our time."

Now, dedicated to the proposition that "Anyone who says he never lies is fibbing," Howard Smith has assembled over 350 quintessential misstatements in his new book, THE THREE BIGGEST LIES, to be published as a Bantam paperback Original December.

Written with the same irreverent wit that has characterized Smith's "Scenes" column for 13 years, and illustrated with line drawings by Bill Woodman, contributing artist to the New Yorker and other magazines, THE THREE BIGGEST LIES rounds up the three major fibs in dozens of categories ranging from parents to the Pentagon, from communist governments to Chinese restaurants.

Among the many lies included in the book are:

1. Rain or shine, I always do five miles a day.
2. Boring? God no—it's one of the most exciting things I've ever done.
3. Remember, without pain, there can never be pleasure. Three Biggest Lies Valedictorians Use in their Graduation Speech:

1. I can't tell you how much this diploma means to me.

2. Someday, we'll all look back on these high school years as the best of our lives.

3. Now we go forth, prepared for all of life's crises. Three Biggest Stewardess Lies:

1. We are very glad to have you aboard this flight.
2. Not only are we showing a terrific film, Walt Disney's latest.
3. I'm sorry sir, but we never go out with passengers, so you'll have to stop annoying me.

In addition to writing the "Scenes" column for the Village Voice for the last 13 years, Howard Smith has written articles for many major magazines. He is also the Academy Award-winning producer-director of the film Monjoe, and is now working on a new film.

MRDC CATALOGUE

A comprehensive listing of publications prepared by the Mississippi Research and Development Center has been printed and is available free to all interested persons.

Bibliography of Publications is geared specifically to those with referend needs in the field of economic development, according to Pattie Fowler, the Center's Public Information assistant who compiled the list.

All Center publications printed through June 30, 1979, are included, some with statewide application and others relating to more specific findings originally produced for an individual community or business firm. "Many of these response-generated reports can be adapted to other situations and may be helpful to the general reader," Mrs. Fowler said.

Reports listed in the bibliography include analyses of a diversity of economic segments, such as transportation and education. "The listing also offers insight into the Center's overall program," Mrs. Fowler noted.

The bibliography is divided into three sections to facilitate reference, including an alphabetical listing, a topical listing, and a geographical listing. The more recent publications are found in a separate listing as well as in the appropriate sections of the bibliography.

Those wishing to order the bibliography or publications included in it may do so by calling the Public Information Office at 982-6468.

Lang, Pirates invade SSC in commanding 19-3 upset

Pass Christian Star Gene Lang (25) sweeps wide around the end and Johnny Jones (85) runs interference as Stanislau gridiron defenders Lee Klein (87), Dennis Scardino (25), Sean Logan (22), Brian Logan (12), and Juan Betanzos (27) close in.

By ELLIS CUEVAS and EDGAR PEREZ
The Pass Christian Pirates defeated the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 19-3 in an attack led by running back Gene Lang who tallied two touchdowns.

Pirate Head Coach Bob Lumpkin commented after the contest, "I am real satisfied, we came out and did what was necessary to keep the football. St. Stanislaus has a good football team. Our entire defensive squad played a tremendous game."

Barry Jones, Rock-A-Chaw head coach stated, "We played good ball in spots, couldn't get ball into end zone. You cannot make mistakes, we were still in the game with three minutes to go."

The Rocks were hurt by two lost fumbles and 13 penalties for 165 yards while Pass Christian had five fumbles but recovered them all and had six penalties for 75 yards.

In total yardage the Rocks had 200 yards against the Pirates 198 with Stanislaus having the edge in first downs 12-8.

Gene Lang rushed for 122 yards for the Pirates and Scott Senner led the Rock runners with 177 yards.

Stanislau was the first to get on the score board in the first quarter when Juan Betanzos booted a 46 yard field goal with 4:15 left in the stanza.

Lang scored in the second quarter for the Pirates, after they received a punt on the Rocks 45. On the seventh play of the series Lang rambled in for 28 yards. The conversion was wide giving Pass a 6-3 lead.

After the score Pass kicked off to the Rocks who were forced to punt from their own 35.

John Pat Swanier, on a 45 yard return, put the ball on the Rocks 25, yet to be moved to the 11 because of a penalty.

Quarterback Cornell Swanier on the first play hit Michael Hall for a touchdown and the conversion by John Pat Swanier gave the Pirates a 13-3 edge with 1:08 left in the first half.

Stanislau received the kick-off to start the second half and marched to the nine of the Pirates on a series of plays only to be denied paydirt on a fumble recovered by Lucius Martin.

In the next series of plays Stanislaus was moving the ball only to be stopped by a fumble. There was no scoring in the third quarter.

The last tally of the game came with only 3:36 left in the contest when Lang ran in from 25 yards out giving the Pirates a 19-3 lead after the conversion was low.

Betanzos, who scored the Rocks only points, stopped a Pass threat after the opening kick-off with a leaping pass interception.

Pass Christian, 4-5 for the season, visits annual arch rival Long Beach next week.

Stanislau, even at 4-4, hosts East Central at Rock-A-Chaw stadium for Homecoming.

"Take nothing away from Pass Christian, they have a good team, very explosive," stated coach Jones.

Coach Lumpkin in final comments said, "Stanislau showed us a lot of different formations and we had worked all week in defending against them. They have a good team and the only way we could win was for us to have the football."

The whistle ended the game with Pass Christian on the Rocks eight as the seconds ticked off.

Tigers devour East Central 20-15

By RANDY PONDER
The Bay High Tigers defeated the East Central Hornets 20-15 before a hometown crowd Friday night. The win snapped a five game losing streak.

The Tigers received to start the game. Their first possession started at the 35.

On the strength of the running of Chuck Benigno, the Bay High team moved the football down to East Central's 24. Here the drive was temporarily stopped when the Hornets recovered a Tiger fumble.

On their first play, East Central gave the ball right back. Huewit Parsons came up with the fumble recovery.

Facing second and ten on the Hornet 40, starting Quarterback Don Ginn handed off to Benigno for 6. Joe Cabaniss then ran for four and a first down.

Cabaniss carried for five more to the 22. Allen Proulx picked up 4.5 yards to set up third down and inches.

Benigno then took a hand-off from Quarterback Ginn and raced to the ten yard line for a first and goal to go.

Several plays later Chuck ran in for the score. Cabaniss' point after attempt was good and with six seconds remaining in the first quarter, the Tigers took the lead 7-0.

On the next possession, East Central again fumbled the ball away. This time Jimmy Sones came up with the recovery for the Tigers.

With the football on the 48, Quarterback Ginn pitched out to Benigno, who passed downfield to Steve "White Shoes" Hargett on the Hornet 24.

After reaching the twelve,

Bay High Tiger Quarterback/Running Back Chuck Benigno (10) and Mike Fitzgerald (65) join teammates in celebrating win over East Central the Tigers lost an excellent scoring opportunity when a Ginn pass was picked off by East Central.

The Hornets drove the ball to the Bay High 22 before another fumble killed that drive.

The half ended with Bay High ahead seven to zero.

It only takes one play to turn a game around and that's exactly what East Central got on the second half kick off.

Roderick Wells received the kick, dropped the ball and then recovered and ran all the way for East Central's first score.

The point after was good, and suddenly the game was tied at seven all.

After an exchange of punts, the Tigers began the drive for the lead they would never lose.

The drive started on the Bay High 37. After reaching the Hornet 44, Alex Harrington took a pitchout and ran 30 yards to the 14.

Allen Proulx went in for the score 3 plays later. The kick was good to give the home standing Tigers a 14-7 lead with 3 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

On their next series, East Central turned the ball over on downs.

With a first down on the Hornet 48, Van Farray ran for nine. Chuck Benigno, now playing quarterback, picked up a first down on a keeper.

Farray picked up six more before Proulx ran for another first down on the 27.

Bruce Cain set up first and goal on his run to the 4. Allen Proulx then scapped in for his second touchdown. The point after was wide to the right.

With only 3:53 remaining in the game, the Tigers had a commanding 20-7 lead.

East Central's final score came with no time showing on the clock. It was a fifteen yard pass play. A two point conversion attempt was good.

The final score was 20-15. James (Snuffy) Smith commented, "We had an excellent first quarter. We had possession of the ball for most of the quarter and moved it in for the score."

Next week Bay High entertains St. John for homecoming.

Hancock capitalizes on Eagle fumbles

By RICH ADAMS
Sports Editor
The Hancock North Central Hawks looked like the champions of one year ago Friday night in Milner Stadium as they soundly defeated the St. John Eagles in Gulfport 31-8.

Halfback Lloyd Henry is credited with three Hawk scores, and Quarterback Bobby Devaughn threw his first two touchdown passes of the year.

The win was mainly due to HNC capitalizing on major St. John mistakes, in addition to fine ball control on the part of the Hawks.

"They did a good job all over and controlled the ball. This is the first time this year they have controlled the ball that way," said Head Coach Irvin Favre.

"The big thing was that in the first half we capitalized on all their mistakes and put the points we needed on the board. We have a good chance to get a 5-5 season this year," he continued.

"I am proud of our second (string) group. They played a real good defensive game and the secondary made some fine plays. Shannon Lyons did a good job both ways for Kelly Lumpkin, who is injured. We looked like the winning team of last year," Favre added.

Hancock received the opening kickoff and attempted a razzle-dazzle play right off, a pitchout by Devaughn to Henry, who handed off to Santiago, who ran pitched to Devaughn, who passed downfield, but the pass was low and incomplete.

Hancock was forced to punt, but got the ball two plays later on a Marvin Koury to Mark Villarreal aerial which was picked off by Rene Baum on the HNC 36 yard line.

On the next play Henry broke through the line and skirted the sideline 65 yards with Eagles in pursuit for a touchdown with 9:29 remaining in the first stanza.

Keith Glass' conversion was good, and the Hawks led 7-0.

St. John received the kickoff and began moving downfield on what appeared to be a certain scoring drive, highlighted by an aerial to Tim Quigley for 30 yards.

St. John was fourth-and-six on the HNC eight yard line and trying to score, but Villarreal's run through the line was good for only four yards and HNC took possession on their own two yard line.

After punting and giving the Eagles good field position, the Hawks' Nelson Crocodile pounced on a loose ball on the HNC 43 and gave the Hawks possession.

The Hawks were forced to punt shortly after the first stanza ended, and St. John had the ball on the HNC four yard line, Faron Hoda's punt stopping just before going in the end zone.

Hancock again capitalized on a loose ball, with Gene Breazeale credited with grabbing the pigskin this time.

Devaughn again broke through the line to score from 33 yards out with 5:38 remaining in the half, and Glass' conversion was good making the score 14-0.

Hancock again got a scoring opportunity as the Eagles fumbled on the Eagle 25 yard line, Henry credited with the recovery.

Glass was called on to kick a 37 yard field goal after the Hawks were unable to move the ball. The pigskin barely cleared the uprights, giving the Hawks a 17-0 lead with 2:42 remaining in the half.

Hancock scored again after Brandon Berry scooped up a loose Eagle fumble and ran the ball 50 yards to the St. John 25.

With 22 seconds remaining in the game Devaughn threw a 25 yard aerial to Santiago in the end zone, which bounced off the hands of a St. John defender and landed in Santiago's hands.

Glass' conversion was again good, and the Hawks led 24-0 at the end of the half.

Hancock scored early in the third period after forcing a St. John punt.

Devaughn ran for a 13 yard gain on a fourth-and-one situation, then passed to Henry who ran the ball in from the 21 with 1:30 remaining in the third stanza.

St. John was forced to punt on the next series, and then the Hawks made their only major mistake of the game when the second-string offense bobbled the ball on the 43 yard line, recovered by Joe Locklear of St. John.

Koury called a series of keepers and combined with Villarreal runs to move the ball to the two yard line, and with 3:28 remaining let Villarreal carry the ball in for the lone score.

Koury hit Quigley in the end zone for the final score of the game, making the tally 31-8. The Eagles kicked a successful on-side kick and took possession on the St. John 40, and two plays later a screen pass to Villarreal which took the ball in for an apparent score for a gain of 52.

But a clipping call nullified the score and time ran out for the Eagles.

Henry averaged 19 yards per carry as he rushed for 114 yards on six carries.

Hancock had 289 yards on the ground and completed four of seven aerials for 101 yards. The Hawks were forced to punt two times and lost only one fumble.

Leading rusher for St. John was Villarreal with 46 yards on 11 carries.

The Eagles rushed for 74 yards and completed six of 10 passes for 76 yards with one interception.

They lost four fumbles and were forced to punt twice.

Next week the Hawks close out their season at home against Poplarville at 7:30 p.m.

St. John Running Back Mark Villarreal (22) runs into HNC's Lloyd Henry (30) as other Hancock linesmen Charles Davis (487), and Keith Glass (52) move in to assist in the tackle

St. John was forced to punt on the next series, and then the Hawks made their only

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

MANAGING RESEEDING CLOVER

The fall of bahia grass and bermuda grass will very often determine the stand received from reseeded (volunteer) clover in these pastures according to John W. Smith, County Agent.

The most important single practice on reseeded clover pastures is to remove all grass residue by heavily grazing or harvesting as hay. Clipping will help if grass is not heavy. The young germinating clover plants must have light to survive. If several inches of dense grass is left standing, many seedling plants will be shaded out.

Also, the young clover plants must be protected from grazing until they are well established.

If the clover has not started to germinate, a shallow renovation with a spring-time field cultivator (Triple K) will do a good job of preparing a shallow seedbed and spreading manure plus reducing sod.

A pulverizing disk with the blades set almost straight will work satisfactorily, but a harrowing will often be needed to level fields and spread manure. Overseeding about 20 pounds of ryegrass will increase the volume of grazing and aid in reducing bloat.

Where phosphate and potash are being applied, the ryegrass can be added to the fertilizer. Do not apply nitrogen at this time. If grazing is needed, then some nitrogen can be applied as a top-dress after clover and ryegrass are up to a stand.

To maintain reseeded clover stands the pH must be kept at 6.0 or above and the phosphate and potash at medium or above levels according to soil test. With the present cost of lime, phosphate and potash, fertilizing by soil test recommendations is the only way to assure the most efficient return from the fertilizer dollar.

In absence of a soil test, a good general recommendation is one ton of lime, 80 pounds each of available phosphate and potash plus 1/2 pound of boron per acre (0-60-60+1/2 pound B).

Several advantages of having clover are greater intake of forage, better milk flow, higher conception rates, higher calf weaning weights and reduced losses from grass tetany. In addition, vigorously growing clover pasture produces nitrogen for its own growth, the companion winter grass and leaves some nitrogen in the soil to be used by the permanent summer sod.

Attention to management details in favor of the clover is necessary if clovergrass stands are to be maintained and profitable utilized.

For complete information on clover management pick up a copy of Information Sheet 910 entitled "Cool Season Legumes" from your County Extension Service Office.

STOP EROSION

Much soil erosion in Mississippi occurs in winter. You can stop this waste of land with soil conservation practices. First, base your crop plans on the kind of soil you have. Sloping land to be row cropped in 1980 should have residue shredded and left on the surface. Chisel plowing or subsoiling on the contour will also help prevent erosion. Soils subject to severe erosion should not be pulverized by tilling this fall.

REDUCE SOYBEAN LOSSES

If you want to put more soybeans in the hopper and fewer on the ground, make sure your combine is properly adjusted. An improperly adjusted combine results in lost beans and dollars.

You can help prevent this loss by fine-tuning your equipment. Using equipment with automatic headers and floating cutters can reduce losses. Correct matching of reel and ground speed will also increase harvest efficiency.

TEST SOYBEAN SEED

Soybeans saved for seed next year need to be cleaned and tested after harvest. This will increase the chances of germination and avoid costly replanting next spring.

Cleaning will remove weed seed, splits, trash and poor quality beans that cause stand problems. Make a standard germination test and, if possible, a vigor test.

Remember: The cost of testing soybean seed is much less expensive than replanting.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY CROP REPORT

CROP NEWS
October, 1979
SUMMARY

SOYBEAN: Based on conditions as of October 1, soybean production is forecast at 99.0 million bushels, 9 percent above last month's forecast, and 21 percent above 1978.

The U.S. production is forecast at 2,213 million bushels, 39 million bushels above last month's forecast, and 18 percent above the revised 1978 production of 1,870 million bushels.

COTTON: Production of cotton is forecast at 1.3 million bales, 8 percent above last month's forecast, but 6 percent below the 1978 production. The U.S. production is forecast at 14,356,000 bales, 1 percent above the last month's forecast and 32 percent above 1978.

RICE: Production of rice is forecast at 8,610,000 cwt. This is unchanged from last month's forecast, but 6 percent below 1978. The U.S. production is forecast at 137.8 million cwt., 3 percent above the last year, and 2 percent below last month's forecast.

SWEETPOTATOES: Sweetpotatoes production is forecast at 836,000 cwt. This is 6 percent above last month's forecast and last year's. The U.S. production is forecast at 14.8 million cwt., 4 percent above 1978.

PECANS: Production of pecans is forecast at 2.5 million pounds, 7.5 million pounds below 1978. The U.S. production is forecast at 250.3 million pounds, compared with 250.7 million pounds in 1978 and 236.6 million pounds in 1977.

EVALUATE FIELDS

Harvest time is one of the busiest times of the year but it is also a good time to evaluate fields to correct problem areas. During harvesting, make a map or sketch of each field and list problem areas that need attention before next spring.

The map should include special weed problems, drainage problems and other production problems that may need follow-up soil testing, fertilization, liming and tillage treatments. By doing this at harvest, you will have all winter to correct these problems for next year's crop.

CUT FIREWOOD NOW

If you plan to cut firewood for the fireplace or wood-stove this winter, you need to start now so the wood will have time to dry. Dry seasoned wood had five to seven million more BTUs of heat per cord than green wood.

One cord of dry red oak or hickory firewood will give you about 32 million BTUs of heat. And, depending on how it's burned, it can replace 1,000 to 5,000 kilowatts of electricity.

SMALL GRAINS

Wheat and oats planted for grain will give best yields if planted in October and early November. The recommended seeding rate is 80 pounds per acre.

You can plant grains with a grain drill or disk them in, although a grain drill will give more uniform emergence. You should apply fertilizer based on a soil test.

CHECK FIREWOOD FOR INSECTS

When you bring in firewood this winter, don't bring in insects with it. Ants, roaches, stink bugs and other insects may be on or under the bark and will become active when brought into the home. Check the wood carefully before bringing it into the house. If there are insects present, remove them by bumping one piece of wood against another or by tapping the wood on the ground.

TRACTOR SAFETY

Farm equipment is on roads and highways in greater numbers now that the harvest is under way. Drivers of tractors pulling extremely wide loads should take extra precautions. Try to keep the equipment on one side of the road if possible. It's a good idea for another vehicle to go ahead of the tractor to warn oncoming traffic.

CZM Funds.....

Webre was unavailable for comment Friday.

The $25 million in grants and loans will help fund projects such as a park in Jackson County; harbor improvements in Gulfport, Long Beach and Pass Christian; and a fishing pier in Biloxi.

However, if Hancock County does not approve CZM, no municipalities on the Coast will receive funds through the program.

Hancock County has received two planning grants through the bureau such as $41,500 for Bayou Caddy development and approximately $26,000 for improvement of Texas Flat Road.

These plans are being formulated by Burke and Associates and will not be effected by the approval or rejection or CZM.

The county will have to pay back 20 per cent of these planning grants which have been in force since July 26, 1976, when the Coastal Energy Impact Program amended the CZM plan of 1972.

Franckiewicz adds, "By accepting CZM, the problems encountered by the Port and Harbor Commission with the Mississippi State Wildlife Bureau and Corps of Engineers will be alleviated because applications to these agencies will be given a public interest review. This means that a plan for development is in the public's interest."

"The classification is officially recognized and makes it hard to deny a permit application," Franckiewicz explained.

plained.

Webre and Franckiewicz will meet again early this week to discuss CZM before officials from the three coastal counties meet with Bill Matuszeski, director of state program for the office of CZM.

The meeting, with the Washington official, is scheduled for Fri., Nov. 9, 9:30 a.m. at the Admiral Benbow Inn in Biloxi.

At this meeting coast officials plan to reach a group agreement on how CZM should be administered.

The deadline for acceptance of CZM is Nov. 15.

Lions, Tiger.....

Ms. Johnson confirmed reports authorities involved in the earlier chase said they were forced to seek the safety of vehicles when the animals came toward the men.

Assisting in the search and roundup was Saxon; K-9 units from the Harrison County Sheriff and Gulfport Police Departments; Forestry Commission rangers; a zoo director with men and equipment from New Orleans; and a veterinarian from the Handsboro Animal Hospital.

Radio Operator Debbie Johnson at Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol District Eight headquarters in Gulfport said the 18-wheel tractor-trailer jackknifed and overturned about 7:20 a.m. Saturday.

Early reports indicated seven lions, one bear and one tiger aboard the truck were freed in the area when the truck overturned, and authorities received reports of wild animal sightings from as far away as Norwood Hills.

Saxon said, however, only five lions and one tiger were freed in the mishap and added all had been caged or accounted for.

The Carson and Barnes Circus truck was enroute to North Biloxi where two performances were scheduled Saturday.

The Slidell Kiwanis Club is sponsoring two additional performances at the 190 Mall there today at 1 and 4 p.m.

Ms. Johnson said no injuries were sustained by man or beast in the incident.

Wit of 1800's writer still keen

Josh Billings was one of America's most famous humorists. His real name was William Henry Shaw. Josh Billings was his pen name. Born in 1818, he died in 1885. At an early age he began to speak and write in his original inimitable way.

When I can first remember - in the late 1890's - Josh Billings humorous sayings were widely quoted by speakers and in the papers of that day though he had been dead for a good many years. I remember an old time Baptist preacher who came to our church occasionally who liked to quote Josh Billings.

My father had a copy of a book written by Josh Billings in his library. I was fortunate enough to fall heir to it. Over the years, I've read this book and enjoyed the keen wit of this writer of 100 years ago.

Josh Billings wrote, "I came to the conclusion, lately, that life was so uncertain that the only way for me to stand a fair chance with other folks was to get my life insured."

Life insurance policies must have been as hard for an ordinary person to understand back then as are the policies of today. Josh said he went to see a life insurance agent and had to answer questions somewhat like these:

1. Are you male or female, and if so how long have you been so?
2. Are you subject to fits and if so do you have more than one at a time?
3. Did you ever have any ancestors and if so, how much?
4. Do you ever have night mares?
5. Do you believe in a future state and if so, state it.
6. Have you ever committed suicide and if so, how did it affect you?

Among the many sayings of Josh Billings said about finders: "Good Lord, deliver us from the fault finders, one of your chronic grumblers, I mean the kind of critics who are always full of self conceit."

Here are other sayings by Josh Billings:

"There are a great multitude of people like blind mules, anxious to go and kick but can't tell where."

"I have finally come to the conclusion that a good reliable set of bowels are worth more to a man than any quantity of brains."

"It is dreadful easy to be a fool - a man can be one and not know it."

"Nobody but a fool gets bit twice by the same dog."

"A woman's influence is powerful especially when she wants something."

"Women will confess their sins but I never knew one to confess her faults."

Josh expressed his opinion of grand opera as follows:

"Opera don't have any more loosening effect on me than castor oil would on a grave image. I sit, and gaze, and hark, and see the whole audience applaud, and all I can do is get mad that such stuff is called music. But all the reasoning in the world won't convince many that they ain't got a right to go into fits over an opera they don't understand a word of. If anyone wants to go and hear a man or woman discolor music that has more color than melody in it, I suppose they have right to crucify themselves any other way."

Here are more of Josh Billings sayings:

"The only way to please everybody is to make everybody think you are a bigger fool than they are."

"Ships are called sea because they always keep a man on the lookout."

"Boys ain't apt to turn out well who don't get up until 10 o'clock."

"If a man is going to make it his business to serve the Lord, I like to see him do it when he measures up nails and beans as well as when he hollers, glory, hallelujah."

Because of his lecturing and writing, Joseph Billings got many letters, mostly for information and advice from all over the country. In reply to one letter he answered it as follows: "You ask me which is most best, the married, or the single condition? Most everybody, at some time in their life, has tried the single state; also almost everybody has hankered after the double state married condition. I have tried both states and am ready to swear, that if a man can get a woman who can fry pancakes on both sides without burning them, and don't hanker to be a women's committee, the married state is heaven and earth all at once. But after all, the married state is a good deal like falling out of a cherry tree, if you don't happen to get hurt, it is a good reason for not trying again."

Here are other Josh Billings sayings:

"As a general thing, if you want to get at the truth in a political argument, hear both sides and believe neither."

"Give the devil his due reads well enough in a proverb, but what will become of me, and you if this arrangement is carried out."

There are hundreds more sayings and short essays in the old book by Josh Billings.

THE REAL LAND GRABBERS

While wealthy Arabs in flowing robes and cash create colorful illusions of high intrigue in the world's marketplaces today, to finger this nation's land grabbers would likely redder our own collective necks more than others.

Facts concerning changes in U.S. and Mississippi land ownership fall quite a ways short of publicized implications, according to the latest data from the U.S. government.

While Americans have some justifiable cause for concern over foreign investments in this country, the most overwhelming evidence is found on the side of self-indictment by the American people.

Despite hue and cry, today foreigners own less than one-half of one percent of all privately held agricultural land in the United States, according to USDA while Mississippi's ownership by foreigners reportedly totals about 100,000 acres, or about one-third of one percent of our total land area of just over 30 million acres.

This is but a trifle when compared to the 40 percent of the U.S. land surface that has over the years moved from private to public ownership through local, state and federal government. So, before we light torches for a witch-hunt we should realize that we as citizens through our state legislatures and national congress have allowed our own levels of government to meander in the direction of socialism to gain permanent ownership and control of about 80 acres of U.S. real estate to every approximately one acre acquired under the banner of capitalism by foreigners.

In the meantime, militancy toward foreign investments here has caused foreign ownership of farmland to be restricted to 20 states and subject to strict record keeping by USDA.

During this same period ownership encroachment by government has been stepped up with President Carter's recent commitment of huge areas in the Pacific Northwest, including much of Alaska, into a locked-up wilderness scheme closed to productive use U.S. cropland, however, remains 99 percent in private hands.

Here in Mississippi our state has 55.3 percent of its land area in forests, about 20 percent in rowcrops and about 15 percent in pastureland. In 1977 the ownership of Mississippi's commercial forests was as follows: County and municipal government, 1,215,900 acres. This total government ownership of forests in Mississippi of 1,676, 400 acres compares with 14,827,900 in private hands. So Mississippi leans heavily in the direction of private ownership in sharp contrast to some of the far West states with their massive national forests, parks and other preserves.

The Mississippi Forestry Association reports that 75 percent of Mississippi's forests are in the private hands of 130,000 landowners. Of these, 32 percent are factory workers who for the most part once farmed the land but today make it their home while working nearby. Retired people own another 23 percent, while farmers own 16 percent. Businessmen and professionals own 17 percent, and housewives and those with other occupations own 12 percent.

While this state's land use figures give comparative solace to Mississippians in the issue of private versus public ownership of both farm and forestlands, still the fact remains that each year we commit more and more land to highways, housing and commercial developments, impoundments, and other modern day land uses.

The bottom line might well be that while wariness is in order for all sizeable purchases of Mississippi land by foreign interests, perhaps our worst threat is in land lost to government. For the nation as a whole, this is dramatically an unfortunately true.

Election '79

BILLY D. SILLS

"I will work for the principles of sound conservative education. It makes no sense when your tax dollars are wasted unnecessarily and not enough is left to provide education for our children."

THAD W. HASKINS

"I would like to begin a pre-school program to help our youngsters learn to enjoy school while adjusting to the classroom situation. I promise that our elementary physical education programs at all schools will have the best facilities and trained personnel."

JULIAN B. WRIGHT

"There are changes in the system that must be made if we are ever going to come out of the rut we have been in for the last one hundred years. Change is a necessary tool in the world we live in today."

MARTIN T. SMITH

"I have sponsored legislation important to our area and worked to lower taxes and reduce the cost of our government."

J.P. COMPRETTA

"We stand at a critical point in Mississippi history. We need elected officials who are capable of leading us through this important period. Important decisions required to state government will be made in the next four years."

KARL GOSS

"I am a working farmer and businessman and I know the problems of the working people. When elected I will work to represent all of the people in a manner which will benefit the working man."

BERT COURGE

"If elected I will continue to serve with honesty, dedication, and integrity."

ROBERT B. PETERSON JR.

"I promise to stay in close contact with the people of Beat One, and work full-time, if given the opportunity to serve you as your supervisor for the next four years."

CHARLES PICKERING

"The attorney general must take the lead in restoring the people's confidence in government. By cleaning out the corrupt politicians who give all honest officials a black eye, I will respond to the people's needs and help restore their faith that our system works."

WILLIAM A. (BILL) ALLAIN

"If elected I believe I have the maturity and experience to be an effective attorney general from the day I take office. This is extremely important where the welfare of the citizens of our state is concerned."

District Three voters will choose between Democrat Roger Dale Ladner, who ousted incumbent Oscar Peterson in the primary elections, and Independent Tommy Shaw.

District Four Democratic Incumbent Sam J. Perniciaro Sr. faces Independent Cleveland Wyatt in a battle for that post.

Incumbent Lee Klein, the Democratic nominee for District One Justice Court judge, faces Independent Tommy Carver in a race for that spot.

Newcomer Bruce J. Nechase, the Democratic nominee for District Four Justice Court judge, is opposed by Independent Sidney Sandoz in the general election.

And in the race for District Three constable, Democratic Nominee Phillip Malley is being challenged by Independentayne (Dooley) Nechase and Rennon E. Shaw.

Statewide, the gubernatorial seat is being sought by Democrat William Winter and Republican Gil Carmichael.

Evelyn Gandy vacated her position in an unsuccessful attempt at the governorship, thus leaving Democrat Brad Dye unopposed for that slot. Outgoing State Treasurer Ed Pittman is seeking the office of Secretary of State as the Democratic nominee, opposed by Republican Jeff East.

Democratic Nominee William A. (Bill) Allain is opposing the Republican Nominee, Charles Pickering, for the office of attorney general in Tuesday's election.

Democrat George Dale is seeking the position of commissioner of insurance against Republican Conner Fulton.

In perhaps the most disputed primary race this year, Bob Joiner is the Democratic nominee, for highway commissioner after narrowly defeating Incumbent W. H. (Shag) Pyron, but the results are being contested by Pyron in several legal battles and numerous county vote recounts.

However, Joiner apparently will be listed on the Tuesday ballots as the Democratic nominee.

Joiner is opposed by Independent Thomas Herbert Moody, Hiram Berry Smith, F. Joe Speights, and Joe Stone.

Democratic Nominee Lynn Havens has opposition from both Republican Doug Knight and Independents Sylvia Dethlefs and Ayres Haxton. District Attorney Albert Nechase is running unopposed after his Democratic nomination for re-election to that office.

Local candidates running unopposed are Mike Nechase, Hancock County School District transportation manager, who defeated incumbent J.D. (Big John) Rutherford in a close race in August for the Hancock County Chancery Court clerk post.

Henry L. Otis is running unopposed for re-election for the position of Hancock County Circuit Court clerk.

Edward D. (Eddie) Murtagh is also without an opponent in his bid for a second term as the Hancock County tax assessor-collector.

Also unopposed after defeating a field of contenders for the post of Hancock County coroner is Carl Bandert.

Pete Joseph Noto has no opposition to his bid for re-election on the Democratic ticket to the post of District One constable.

A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, is unopposed as he seeks re-election as District Two supervisor.

Horatio Frierson also faces no contenders as he bids for re-election to the office of District Two Justice Court judge.

Merlin (Shorty) Nechase is unopposed in his Democratic quest for the slot of District Two constable.

District Three Justice Court Judge Lloyd Anderson is the only official in that district who is running unopposed for re-election.

In District Four, Gerald A. Tomasich is without contenders in his bid for constable.

District Five Supervisor James A. (Jimmy) Travira is unopposed after soundly defeating outgoing Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner in the Democratic primary election.

John C. Chevis, after winning the Democratic nomination as District Five Justice Court judge, also is without opposition for his first term at that office.

Willie E. Carbonette is seeking re-election to the office of District Five constable without opposition in Tuesday's election.

ROGER DALE LADNER

"I intend to work with all the political subdivisions in the county and cities. All of the people will profit."

TOMMY SHAW

"As your supervisor, I will be available to discuss with you any problems you may have, in which I may be assistance. I will voice my opinion on every issue, not thinking about politics or self, but you, the taxpayers of Hancock County."

SAM J. PERNICIARO JR.

"I have been servicing and repairing trucks and heavy equipment for the past 24 years in my own business, and I feel I have saved the county many dollars on costly repairs just by having knowledge and experience to supervise repairs to county equipment. I have made a great improvement on drainage, streets, and street signs just to name a few improvements."

CLEVELAND WYATT

"I pledge fair and equal treatment to all, 100 percent return on every tax dollar, improved drainage, beat-wide coverage, expanded projects for senior citizens, cooperation with all elected officials, and prompt attention to your problems."

LEE B. KLEIN

THOMAS L. (TOMMY) CARVER

"If elected judge the only promise I can make is that I will strive to make District One a place where regardless of race, sex, or religion, the law will be carried out to the best of my ability."

WAYNE (DOOLEY) NECHASE

PHILLIP MALLEY

F. JOE SPEIGHTS

"Elect a highway engineer as your highway commissioner."

ED PITTMAN

"I will make a major effort to improve the state's election laws. It is proper for the public to question politicians and their credibility, but the election process must be safeguarded and we must have confidence in its accuracy."

JOE STONE

GHM radiologist using new ultrasound devices

Dr. Andrew Martinolich, Bay St. Louis radiologist, is among Gulfport Memorial Hospital staff members working with the hospital's latest sophisticated equipment addition, the Ultrasound Unit with Realtime.

Although used to a large extent to determine the age and size of a fetus, the non-invasive procedure is also useful in evaluating abdominal or aortic aneurysms. It is helpful in detecting ovarian, cysts, ectopic pregnancies and disease of the cervix and uterus as well as examining the liver, kidneys, pancreas and thyroid.

Jarvis Harrison, technician with the unit, said the Ultrasound is effective in picking up gallstones not visualized in routine radiology procedure.

The Realtime uses a series of sound waves from small transducers to record motion of the internal organs. Variations in the pattern of the beams as they pass through the organ, not unlike a depth finder in water, describe the motion of the organ.

Light points in the films are fluids while shaded and dark areas are the images such as the head and body of a 30-week fetus.

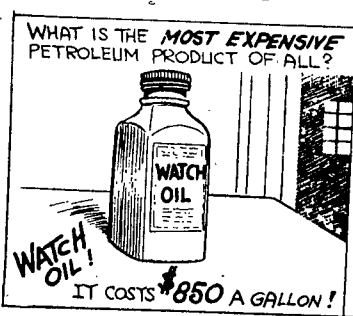

The images are projected on a screen giving an expectant mother a view of her unborn baby several months prior to birth. Although the image can be frozen and a polaroid picture taken with an attached Polaroid camera, routinely, only films are taken for re-view.

Radiologists interpret the films which are also a diagnostic tool for physicians in pinpointing cysts, masses, aneurysms, fibroid tumors and the like.

Dr. Frank Schmidt, radiologist, pointed out that the procedure is completely safe and harmless to the fetus. Drs. Martinolich and Hoshall Barrett are brother radiologists in the department.

(Pd. Pol. Adv.)

Many of the teachers, professional staff and parents at Hancock North Central, would like to make this personal appeal to you to vote for THAD HASKINS, Superintendent of Education

If Thad Haskins becomes our next Superintendent of Education, we will lose a strong and dedicated principal at Hancock North Central who has been a source of inspiration and guidance to all of us.

However, we realize that more than 2000 students who attend the Hancock County schools of Gulfview, C.B. Murphy, and Hancock North Central will benefit from your decision. Because Mr. Haskins listens to the needs of the community, he will allow us to better educate your children.

Hancock County will grow tremendously over the next four years. As professionals responsible for the educational welfare of your children, we urge you to elect an administrator who has proven his ability to handle tough situations.

Please vote for THAD HASKINS, Superintendent of Education, Tuesday, November 6, in the General Election.

Thank you very much

(Submitted to and approved by Thad Haskins, candidate for Superintendent of Education-paid for by teachers, staff and friends)

Saturday rites join Murtagh, Willson

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding of Theresa Louise Murtagh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward David Murtagh of Bay St. Louis, and Jeffrey Scott Willson of Thawville, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willson of Orna, Ill., Saturday morning, Oct. 20.

Father Louis Lohan performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of pink gla-diol and chrysanthemums. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon over peau de soie. The sweetheart neckline, empire waist and front pleated insert were trimmed with lace appliques. Matching appliques trimmed with cuffs of the long Bishop sleeves.

Her cathedral length veil illusion, trimmed with lace, fell from a beaded lace caplet. She carried a bouquet of white and pink silk roses interspersed with baby's breath and satin ribbons.

Carrie Lynn Murtagh attended her sister as maid of honor; and Abigail Anne Murtagh, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Jerry Willson of Orna, served his brother as best man. Groomsman was Dr. Sidney Chevis, Bay St. Louis, brother-in-law of the bride. Joseph Goellner III and Jeffrey Goellner of Gauthier, nephews of the bride, were ushers.

The bridesmaids wore wine polyester knit dresses fashioned with a blouson effect and crystal pleated skirts.

They wore pink silk flowers and baby's breath in their hair and carried a single pink silk rose interspersed with baby's breath and ribbons.

The mother of the bride wore a jade green knit dress and a white silk orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a two-piece Burgundy suit with a pink silk orchid corsage.

Hanging ferns and arrangements of pink and white chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery decorated the yard of Dr. and Mrs. Chevis for the reception following the ceremony. The bride's table held a three tier cake trimmed in pink and white flanked by silver candelabras. Arrangements of pink carnations, chrysanthemums and greenery completed the table decoration.

Ms. Clair Bourgeois of Bay St. Louis presided at the cake table and Mrs. Joseph Coellner of Gauthier, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Miss Linnee Cabell of Bay St. Louis, kept the bride's register.

For their wedding trip to Biloxi the bride wore a green polyester knit dress with a corsage of rust silk roses.

The couple will reside in Thawville.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Willson was honored with a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mesdames Charles Breath Jr., Richard Thames and Phil Kergosien at the Breath home in North Beach Boulevard Oct. 10.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Edward Murtagh, were presented pink carnation corsages.

Seniors slate bazaar on City Hall lawn

By MS. PETE CARR

Hancock County Senior Citizens are having their annual Arts and Crafts Bazaar this Monday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. On invitation of Mayor Larry Bennett, the event is to be staged under the oak tree at City Hall.

Should the weather prevent the Senior Citizens holding the Bazaar in the open, it will be held at the Center at Valena C. Jones School, Old Spanish Trail.

Community support is essential to make the Bazaar a successful event.

Sandwiches, hot dogs, etc. will be available. Also, stop at the "white elephant" table.

Arts and crafts, patiently contrived, will be on exhibit and for sale.

Do come and browse around. If something catches your eye that would be just the thing for a relative or friend for Christmas, purchase it and share the thrill and pleasure you have given with the Senior Citizens who enjoyed making it. Don't forget - City Hall if the weather permits - at the Center otherwise; in any event our local craft artists will be waiting for you.

Each senior receives the money collected from sale of his or her crafts.

ELECT

BILLY D. SILLS

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR

Superintendent of Education

During the past two months of my campaign, I have not been able to see as many of you as I had hoped.

This is due to the fact that my Democratic Primary opponent found it difficult to accept the will of the voters, keeping me occupied in various court proceedings to contest the results of the August election.

It is time now for those of us genuinely concerned about strengthening our county school system and providing tough effective leadership to join together and accomplish the many things that have been left undone.

ELECT

THOMAS L. (Tommy) CARVER

Justice Court Judge District One

As this election draws to an end, I want to thank the many fine people I have met during my campaign for their hospitality and kindness.

I have made a sincere effort to meet everyone in District One, however it has been impossible. I know from personal opinion it is hard to vote for someone you do not know or have not spoken to. I therefore invite you to call me at home at 467-5775 if you have any questions.

While conducting my campaign and talking to the people of District One, I feel I am more acquainted with problems affecting our lives. If elected judge, I would be able to work on an individual basis with you on your problem.

It is your duty and responsibility to elect competent officials to represent you; be it on the state level, county level or district level. Every vote counts and one vote-YOUR VOTE- can make the difference. Be sure you are there to voice your silent opinion on Tuesday, November 6.

I humbly solicit your vote and support for the office of Justice Court Judge, District One.

J. B. WRIGHT

Candidate For

STATE SENATOR

TO THE VOTERS OF

PEARL RIVER AND

HANCOCK COUNTIES

Julian B. Wright

I am J.B. Wright, a candidate for the office of state senator. A man who can and will stand up for the people of this district. A man who will introduce legislation and fight to get it through the legislature that will benefit the people as a whole in Mississippi. There are changes in the system that must be made if we are ever going to come out of the ruts we have been in for the last one hundred years. Change is a necessary tool in the world that we live in today. Our state leaders have never had the foresight or the desire to make any changes in state government. Their attitude is simply stated in one phrase, don't dare rock the boat. If ever the boat needed rocking, rocking in order to bring the government back to the people, the time is now. There are changes needed in our constitution, our rules, and our laws if we are ever to have government for and by the people.

We need to change or amend our constitution to allow a governor to succeed himself in office. This change should be made regardless of who is elected governor this year. This would give the governor the strength and prestige to carry out his duties as governor and give him the necessary time to carry out any programs that would be beneficial to the people. This has not been done because of jealousy on the part of law makers. This change has been made in other states and worked well to the advantage of the people. Look at the financial growth of Louisiana today and you can see the difference. Their law was changed only twelve years ago and it is working to their benefit.

We need changes in the rules by which our state senate operates. We have fifty two senate districts in the state, each senator representing a near equal number of people. That is as it should be but that is not the case. The unwritten law in the state senate is, first seek the blessings of the few Mr. Bigs and then proceed if its alright with them. This powerhouse structure of state government should and must be corrected. It will take people elected to office who have the guts to stand up for the people and forget about the power they desire for themselves. As it stands now the Lt. Governor appoints each committee member and each committee chairman. This is done under extreme pressure from special interest groups which results in special interest running state government rather than the people we elect to do the job. This iniquity can and should be changed by letting the Lt. Governor appoint the committee members, the chairman being elected by the committee members, and that chairmanship rotated each year. This would eliminate power structures, reduce special interest lobbying power, and return the power of government to the people where it belongs. This has never been done. It would take time as well as electing dedicated people to office and standing behind them in their attempt to serve you. Mississippi can be a leader if the people so desire, or we can struggle along in the same old ruts and stay on the bottom of every statistic that there is.

Mississippi needs oil exploration which we do not have now because of the law governing mineral rights. Most of the mineral rights were sold to a few people with the money to spend when selling them were the only way of putting food on the table of poor landowners. These mineral rights were sold for a very low price and the holders have had ample time to make a good profit on their investment. It's time mineral rights were returned to the present landowners. When this is done the oil companies will come in and there again the people will enjoy the benefits. Other states have this type law and it has benefited everyone. Why not Mississippi?

This is only a few changes that need to be made to put our state on the tracks to success. I am fully aware of the opposition, to changes of this nature by a few people who will cry to high heaven and offer you all kinds of excuses why these things should not be done. I know that change is a necessary part of our lives if we are to live in a changing world such as we have today. Things that do not work for us can be made to work only by change.

The choice is entirely in your hands as to what you want and the direction you want to go. If you want things as is, then vote for my opponent. He seems to be satisfied with things as they are. If you want a man to serve you the people, a man that has the time and desire to listen to you, a man that knows the pressure that people have to face in their everyday lives, and a man who is willing and able to work to help eliminate some of the pressures, then vote for me. It can make a difference.

State Garden Clubs offer November planting guide

By MRS. C. H. WOOD
Horticulture Chm.

November is a good month to plant bulbs in containers, forcing them to flower in mid-winter. Fill a container, that has holes for drainage, with soil mix. Space bulbs one-half to one inch apart and cover with one-half inch of soil. It is not necessary to cover the long neck of daffodils.

With tulips the fall side of the bulb should face the outside of the pot. It is this side from which the first leaf appears.

One or several bulbs can be planted in a container.

After potting they need to be kept moist. The bulbs must be given a period of chilling. Place them in a utility room, unheated garage or coldframe for about six weeks. After that time, a good root system should have developed. Bring the container indoors to a cool, sunny location and keep the soil moist. Within a few weeks the foliage and flower will appear.

Pansies set out in October and November bloom profusely all winter and spring. During cold periods, pansies aren't at their best, but they snap back with more vivid color as soon as temperatures rise above freezing again.

Grow pansies in masses, in full sun and fertile, well-drained soil. Set plants no more than 4 to 6 inches apart.

Apply a light-mulch of rotted sawdust, compost or shredded leaves to help protect the plants against killing frost. If you planted pansies last month, give them a light feeding of 12-12-0 fertilizer. Check plants for aphids and caterpillars. Use malathion to control aphids and Sevin for caterpillars.

There is still time to plant such bulbs as daffodils, hyacinths, Dutch iris and crocus. Tulip bulbs that have been refrigerated for six weeks can be planted late this month.

By the middle of the month begin planting roses, shrubs, perennial vines and young trees, both ornamental and shade. Shrubs, roses and trees planted this month will begin making root growth during the warm periods of winter and will be established by spring.

Begin mowing newly planted ryegrass as soon as it is 3 inches high.

Cut chrysanthemum plants back within 4 to 6 inches from the ground after the first killing frost.

Cut back dahlias to within 2 to 4 inches of the ground immediately after the first killing frost. Allow plants to remain in the ground for about a week. Dig the tubers and wash them; allow them to dry in the shade for a day or two. Store tubers over the winter by covering them with peat moss or by wrapping them individually with newspaper. Do not allow them to freeze.

Dig caladium bulbs as soon as the leaves have died back or after the first light frost. Remove as much of the soil as you can without rubbing. Dry bulbs in the sun until clinging soil and leaves can be easily removed. Wrap bulbs individually in newspaper or pack in sawdust or dry peat moss. Store in a dry place.

November is a good time to have the soil in your garden tested for fertilizer needs.

Contact your county agent for information about collecting samples and where to send them.

Slidell dinner theatre previewing comedy 'LUV'

The upcoming production at Minacapelli's Dinner Theatre, 227 Cousin Street, Slidell, will be the comedy LUV, by Murray Schisgal.

The show will preview on Nov. 4, 7 and 8, with the official opening Friday, Nov. 9. The production will then run Wednesday through Sunday for six weeks.

Show times are 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, preceded by an Italian-American buffet at 6:30 p.m.

The Sunday matinee will be at a new time for this production, with the buffet opening at 1 p.m. and the curtain at 2:30-3 p.m.

LUV deals with the outrageous antics of three characters devoted to out-doing one-another in the preposterous game of self-pity. The entire action takes place on a bridge, with only a park bench, a lampost and a sandbox.

Francine Segal will be appearing in the role of Ellen Manville.

She has just returned to New Orleans from Los Angeles after playing the role of Susan Wheeler in NBC's Maude, as well as in several films.

Jack Scott, in the role of Harry Berlin, returns to Minacapelli's following a year's absence after he played El Gallo in The Fantasticks.

His career on Broadway began with the original production of Damn Yankees, and continued with the first national company of Bye Bye Birdie.

David Dahlgren, in the role of Milt Manville was last seen on this Slidell stage in dual roles in the premier showing of Beside Yourself.

Directing this production, Phil White returns for his fourth time as director at Minacapelli's having previously guided Come Blow Your Horn, How To Succeed In Business, and Beside Yourself. He was last seen as an actor on stage in MARY, MARY.

Involved in local community theatre for the past 16 years, White has been designer, actor and director for the Slidell Little Theatre. He is also production manager for the Daily SENTRY-News in Slidell, where he also writes a weekly column and serves as that newspaper's theatrical reviewer.

Brief

KEEP TREES HEALTHY

Healthy shade trees are subject to attack by many diseases and conditions that can damage or even kill these beautiful plants. Some are caused by bacteria, fungi, nematodes and viruses. Many other problems, however, are caused by drought, root-system damage from construction work, nutrient deficiencies, toxic gases in the soil, use of toxic pesticides and weed killers, and lightning and other storm damage.

For more information on how to diagnose and control these problems, contact the county Extension office.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

A great sickness

Q. My husband of 22 years has filed for divorce suddenly. It is an "overnight event." Love one day, hate the next! Some days I feel if I had no children I could easily step in front of a train and forget everything. How can I accept his overwhelming HATE, HATE, HATE? I've prayed to be loving and forgiving, and I've prayed for my husband. Still this terrible aching. It's like a great sickness of epidemic proportions in this little town. so many divorces and no good reason for 99 percent of them.

A. Wonder if you overplay that hate. This attitude of your husband must have been building up over a period of time and is not something that just happened suddenly. If he hates you, whereas he formerly loved you, you might ask "Why this change in attitude?" Perhaps you might correct something within yourself. At least you can try discussing the matter with him in a calm and rational manner. When love seems to decline, by going carefully into the reasons, one can often get a corrective solution.

Whatever the outcome, you can always have hope. Life need never be hopeless unless we make it so.

Can't cope with pain
Q. I have been in severe back, hip and leg pain for 4 years. After 6 operations in 2 years I get awfully depressed. There is nothing more they can do for me. I am a nurse and an artist, but now I can't sit or stand more than 10 minutes. My husband is very loving and does everything he can with the help of our daughter, 12 and son, 9. How can I cope with this pain for the rest of my life? Twice I have just wanted to end it all by taking an overdose of my pain pills. Why is God doing

A. God is not doing this to you. It is some physical problem that is causing the pain and disability. Never accept the negative thought that there is nothing more that can be done. Keep believing, searching, praying. Keep affirming health and well-being. "See" yourself as free from pain and well able to stand and walk. Believe health, think health, pray health, affirm health. You can cope, with God's help, and that big help is yours now. We are sending you our booklet, Healing...for Loved ones and For you, which has helped others with problems such as yours. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

ALCOHOL IS OUR NUMBER ONE DRUG PROBLEM! Neither the warning of the medical profession, the pleading of law enforcement officials, nor the counsel of God, deters our social from the continued and increased and increased consumption of alcohol as a beverage.

In 1933 the 18th amendments to the Constitution was repealed by the United States Congress. Like manipulated puppets, we joined in singing "Happy Days Are Here Again." Now some 46 years later, we sadly realize that we should have been singing "The Worst Is Yet To Come."

What has been the results of making booze legally accessible and advertised as the "sophisticated style of the smart set?"

Estimates in recent studies on the subject inform us that we now have over 10 million problem drinkers in America.

These not only disrupt their own lives but also affect the lives of as many as 40 million family members and friends. Absenteeism, low productivity, poor judgement, inefficiency in general—all these effects of problem drinkers cost business and government (tax-payers) an estimated 10 billion dollars a year.

That is not all! There are more than 25,000 alcohol-related traffic fatalities, 15,000 alcohol-related homicides and suicides, 20,000 other fatalities due to alcohol-related accidents, and 2 million arrests for simple drunkenness are recorded every year.

The bane of booze is a tragedy! Despite all its defenders, liquor has no valid nor legitimate defense. One out of every 10 U.S. workers is an alcoholic, resulting in an estimated $25 billion-a-year drain on the economy.

With all these statistics, as depressing as they are, the baneful effect of alcohol as a beverage, and its human consumption, is not fully reflected.

Its further destruction is measured in terms of human misery, moral deterioration, spiritual decline, and mental depression.

It leaves behind the tortured memories of sins of drunken experiences and blighted hopes of untold millions dashed in despair.

The sordid history of mankind and alcohol has been written in blood, gore and corruption. But one thing remains crystal clear: we have ignored the lessons of history!

Our sophisticated space-age society, all the evidence to the contrary notwithstanding, continues to argue for the defense of alcohol, especially those who stand to profit from the sale of it. For the Bible says: "The love of money is the root of all evil" - I Tim. 6:10.

We seek to justify the liquor traffic and easy availability to ourselves and our children in the face of the evidence that some 1.3 million boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 17 have serious drinking problems.

In many cases, drinking has led to marijuana and hard drugs. Sixty percent of those killed in drunken-driving accidents are teen-agers; and the number of teen-agers arrested for drunken driving has tripled since 1960.

We are consuming alcohol in increasing amounts to our own destruction as we naively protect it by license and law. Oh, consistency, thou art indeed a jewel!

If a nation has neither the character, courage nor desire; grace, grit nor guts to prohibit it by force of law, its citizens will be wise to completely abstain from its use as a beverage. Again the Bible says: "At last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder" - Prov. 23:32.

Diamondhead Pilgrimage includes floating home

The Diamondhead Garden Club met recently at the Country Club, with Mrs. Joseph Finley presiding.

The following reports were given: Bulb Chairman Mrs. Morgan Boutes said that the bulbs ordered for Fall planting by members were now available from her; Mrs. Dorothy Jordan awarded the Garden of the Month plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton of Bayou Drive; Budget chairman Mrs. Milton Haggard distributed copies of the 1979-1980 budget which was accepted unanimously; Mrs. Chester Partridge reported on a Landscape and Design School Tuesday Nov. 13 at Mississippi State College; Pilgrimage Chairman Mrs. Harrie Devine read the completed list of homes to be shown at the Diamondhead Pilgrimage April 11, 1980. An interesting "first" will be the showing of a fifty foot motor yacht, "Sunshine."

Mrs. Morgan Boutes was appointed Hands chairman to be assisted by Mrs. Dan M. Russell and Mrs. Clarence A. Evans.

Membership chairman Mrs. E. C. Dean announced the following have been accepted as new members: Mmes. Leo Bennett, J. D. Braymeyer and George M. Love.

Guests present were Mmes. Joseph Cassia, J. D. Johnston, Wm. Standridge, and Geo. Underwood.

Details of a picnic to be given for members and their husbands at Mrs. Finley's home were discussed.

Guest speaker John Tucker of New Orleans presented a program titled "Arrangements Beaucoup," consisting of slides of floral arrangements made by his wife accompanied by a running commentary in which he stressed the importance of line, balance and containers.

Later he instructed the garden club members in the correct procedure for drying flowers in silica-gel, and also gave pointers on how to successfully dry eucalyptus and magnolia leaves in glycerin.

AUDUBON PILGRIMAGE MARCH 21, 22, 23, 1980

ST FRANCISVILLE, LA.

Four significantly historic homes and two famous gardens of the 19th century will be opened for the ninth annual Audubon Pilgrimage, March 21, 22, 23, 1980, in famed West Feliciana Parish.

The three plantation homes, Wakefield, Laurel Hill, and Catalpa, present three distinct architectural styles - stately Greek Revival, comfortable Carolina 1. and exuberant Victorian. In St. Francisville, a town whose history began in 1809, illustrates the double use of the large brick structure, in Audubon's day it was both home and store.

The two gardens, Rosedown and Alton Villa, are nationally renowned for their beauty and rare plants.

New Pilgrimage attractions are the Royal Street Revels, which include an original playlet, The Secret, performed several times daily at Audubon Hall and authentic costumes from the 1820's when Audubon was a resident of West Feliciana. Royal Street by Candlelight (from 7 to 9 p.m. on March 21 and 22 only) offers guests a stroll into a gracious past. The sound of folk hymns, from the Methodist Church, the rhythms and harmony of barbershop quartets, peeks into candlelit rooms, and a visit to The Camilla Leake Barrow House, ca. 1810, all present a visible reminder of a more leisurely age.

Other historic buildings will be open to visitors during this time including Audubon Hall, Bank of Commerce and Trust Company, The Law Office Courthouse, The United Methodist Church, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church, Grace Episcopal Church, and cemetery and Jackson Hall, where a continental breakfast will be served from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. and lunch will be served until 4 p.m. for Pilgrimage visitors.

Hours of the Pilgrimage are: Homes, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Gardens, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Rural Homestead - 9:30 a.m. to

ROSEDOWN GARDENS

5 p.m. Churches, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Pilgrimage tickets (including Tour Book) are $8 per person. Children and students with adult $5 each. College students with ID $5 each. Candlelight Tour, all ages $2 per person. Group tickets (Clubs, Commercial Tour Groups, Senior Citizens' Groups, i.e. AARP and charter bus groups) are $7 per person with advance reservation. Guides are available for buses only by prior arrangement. Tickets will be sold at the West Feliciana Historical Society Museum ticket office on Frenchman St. in St. Francisville. For additional information and brochures write West Feliciana Historical Society P.O. Box 338, St. Francisville, La. 70775.

For A Lunch Box Treat...

Bake Up Almond Bars

Pack some crunchy almond and chewy prune goodness into the day with Almond Prune Bars.

Those seemingly insatiable student appetites will delight in these crunchy, chewy Almond-Prune Bars. And when you pack a lunch with these tempting treats, you're packing plenty of vitamins and minerals, often lacking in diets today. Prunes are especially important for energy-producing carbohydrates, which are essential for growing children.

Almonds are available in so many convenient forms they make baking a breeze. Almond-Prune Bars are no exception—they're a quick and simple one-pan cookie treat. A durable, easy-to-pack dessert, they weather the rigors of lunch box transport well. The real question will be whether kids will wait until lunch to taste these delicious cookie bars.

For another crunchy almond lunch box special, mix the versatile almond with dried fruits and coconut flakes.

Why Christmas Shop Early?

A season as big, as deep, as rich, as generous, as fulfilling as Christmas, takes a lot of time.

Seems like one holiday pushes in on another... upset the way Jolly Old St. Nicholas moves in on us! Christmas carols become interspersed with Alma Mater and football scores? Every so often you hear the mild complaint, that the stores start promoting Christmas buying too early. Consider for a moment what would happen if Christmas were really pressed behind a curtain of time and nobody could see it or feel it until the reindeers were prancing across the roof tops, the church bells were ringing and Santa was headed down the chimney. Could you wait till then to dash off to the stores and buy presents in one big, happy, shopping gulp? All twenty-five of them? Would you have time to try out every toy, touch every soft thread of a cashmere sweater, stand a half hour or so deciding which tie, which candlestick, which book? Could you gather all the goodies that make this season so wonderfully warm and fragrant and delicious hundreds and hundreds of people who shop in the stores be doing? And, what about those who would possibly help you make a purchase much less show you what's available, how it works, what it does, how you use it and the many other important features. When would you hide the super surprises, bake the fruit cake, crack the nuts for the cookies, get out the red friends, tie the greenery to the door, drop a line to old friends.

The stores want you to enjoy the Christmas season... that's why you see early displays and early advertising for Christmas. The stores know it takes a lot of time... to fully enjoy a season as big, as deep, as rich, as sweet, as generous, as fulfilling as Christmas.

VA questions and answers

Q - I have moved to a new address. I have informed the post office of the change and have assurance my mail will be forwarded. Is there any additional action I must take to make sure I receive my VA checks at my new address?

A - You must also notify your VA regional office of your change of address as soon as possible. Q - I have a disability rating of 30 percent and receive $121 a month. A friend has a 60 percent rating and receives $292. Why don't I receive half as much as he does.

A - The amount to be paid a veteran for a particular disability rating is set by law. These rates do not relate in an exact pro rata way to the 100 percent disability rate. The more disabled a veteran is, the heavier the impact on his employability. So the law provides proportionately more compensation to those with the most severe impairments. Q - I bought a home with a GI loan after World War II and paid the loan off several years ago. I am now considering another loan and wonder if the old regulations limiting you to the purchase of conventional houses still apply.

A - Today's GI loan program is much more flexible. You may now buy mobile homes and condominiums with loans guaranteed by the VA. Q - I retired last year at age 62 because of illness. I served in World War II but suffered no disability in service. Is there a veterans' pension available to me?

A - To qualify for non-service connected pension before age 65, a veteran must be rated permanently and totally disabled by the Veterans Administration. Over age 65, there is no such requirement. In both cases there are strict limitations on income from non-VA sources.

Q - I have been honorably discharged after four years of active military service. What is my GI Bill educational entitlement?

A - Four years of active military service entitles a veteran to 45 months of educational assistance. It must be used within 10 years after discharge or release from service.

Q - I am a Vietnam Era veteran who is unable to find employment. Am I eligible for unemployment compensation?

A - Generally, a veteran with 90 days or more continuous active service is entitled to unemployment benefits under federal law. Contact your local state employment service for specific eligibility requirements.

Q - What is the required standard of school conduct and progress required of a veteran receiving GI Bill educational assistance?

A - The veteran must maintain satisfactory conduct and progress in accordance with standards and policies of the educational institution he attends.

for use in quiche, each lending its own distinct flavor to the dish. This is a good time to take advantage of lower grade eggs since appearance of the egg is not important, adds Mrs. Rushing.

Vegetables such as squash, spinach, broccoli, corn and many others make excellent additions to quiche, either in small amounts to prevent leftover waste or as a main ingredient.

Bake at low temperatures since quiche is made of ingredients high in protein. High temperatures will make the egg white tough, the yolk mealy, the cheese tough and stringy, and the milk curdle, Mrs. Rushing explains.

You can prepare an excellent brunch or lunch with quiche as the star and perhaps a fruit salad and a muffin as accompaniment. For a heartier supper meal, serve several vegetables and rolls.

'MAN OF THE YEAR'
The police chief at The University of Mississippi was chosen 1979 Man of the Year by the Mississippi Association of Junior and Senior College Security Personnel. John Tidwell has been with the Ole Miss department since 1970.

LAW LECTURES
The chief justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court, Neville Patterson, was the first James McClure Memorial Lecturer in Law at the Ole Miss Law Center.
